Year 5 Class 5NL

Dear Pandas,

Hello! It was great to so many of you on the Zoom calls. Hopefully, they have been useful and have given you a head start with your daily activities. I also hope you enjoyed writing about your dessert 'creation' and I can't wait to read some of them after half term. Please keep the work you have managed to complete since you have been at home and bring it all in with you when we return to school.

I have been investigating YouTube and have managed to create a page to upload chapters of The Nowhere Emporium, much to Ruby's embarrassment 😊 If you have missed them, the link is below:

https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCe7N_gLYH5r5LwvpXYBjRnA?view_as=subscriber

Please try to watch the chapters in order - so we can aim to finish the book on Thursday in order to complete this week's writing task.

For maths, please continue working through those last few objectives and I will upload extra challenges for each objective on the website. Miss Lane has also uploaded a Year 5 Arithmetic paper if you need an extra challenge. I have also set some My Maths work. A detailed overview is at the end of this letter. Keep using the 'Hit the Button' website to keep those number facts both quick and accurate! <https://www.topmarks.co.uk/maths-games/hit-the-button>

As the Zoom meetings seem to be a good start to the day, I will do two each day Monday – Thursday. You do not need to log on to every zoom but they are there should you need them. I will go over the learning task so you are clear on what to do. Each zoom will be roughly 20-30 minutes. When you do log onto a zoom, please make sure you are organised with paper and a pen or pencil and that you have a quiet place to work. It may also be useful to use headphones so you can hear me as clearly as possible.

It is the same meeting code and password for all meetings:

	I would like you to spend your homework time making sure your book review is produced to a high quality and is suitable to put a whole class display when we return to school. If you would like anything extra then you could produce a 'new' book cover for The Nowhere Emporium. Your cover should ideally be on A4 paper folded in half. You cover on the left should feature the title and author and a new blurb written by you, on the right. Your blurb should be no more than 20 words. These may also be added to the display.

Other subjects:

Topic – Geography: Mountains and Volcanoes

I would like you to research and produce a poster or information sheet about mountain animals and how they are adapted to surviving in their challenging environment. There is a superb BBC documentary with stunning footage which I recommned you watch:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/b08397lq>

RE – Studying messages from Hindu stories

There are stories and questions uploaded to the website.

Tuesday – English

LO: To identify character traits for characters in The Nowhere Emporium and explain your reasons for your choice using evidence from the book.

1. I would like you to draw or print the table below.
2. Then find the character trait word list that has been uploaded to the website.
3. Then for each character choose and write down at least 5 words which you think represents their character.

Vindictus Sharpe	Ellie Silver	Daniel Holmes	Lucien Silver

Once you have done that, I would like you to decide on which one word you think describes them the best and explain why you have chosen that using what you know about them. I would like you to do that for each character, e.g. I think Vindictus Sharpe is cruel because he mistreated Lucien and often beat him.

LO: To identify and use relative pronouns

Read and answer the questions below. I cut and pasted a range of different questions I would like you to answer. (That is why there are two 7a questions) Complete the answers on the sheet if you have a printer. If not make sure you write the question down that you are answering and bring it in with all of your work after half term.

Thursday - English Writing:

To write a book review/information page about The Nowhere Emporium. You need to think of an overall title for your page. Then decide on 3-4 subheadings or sections you want to write about. Possible subheadings could be:

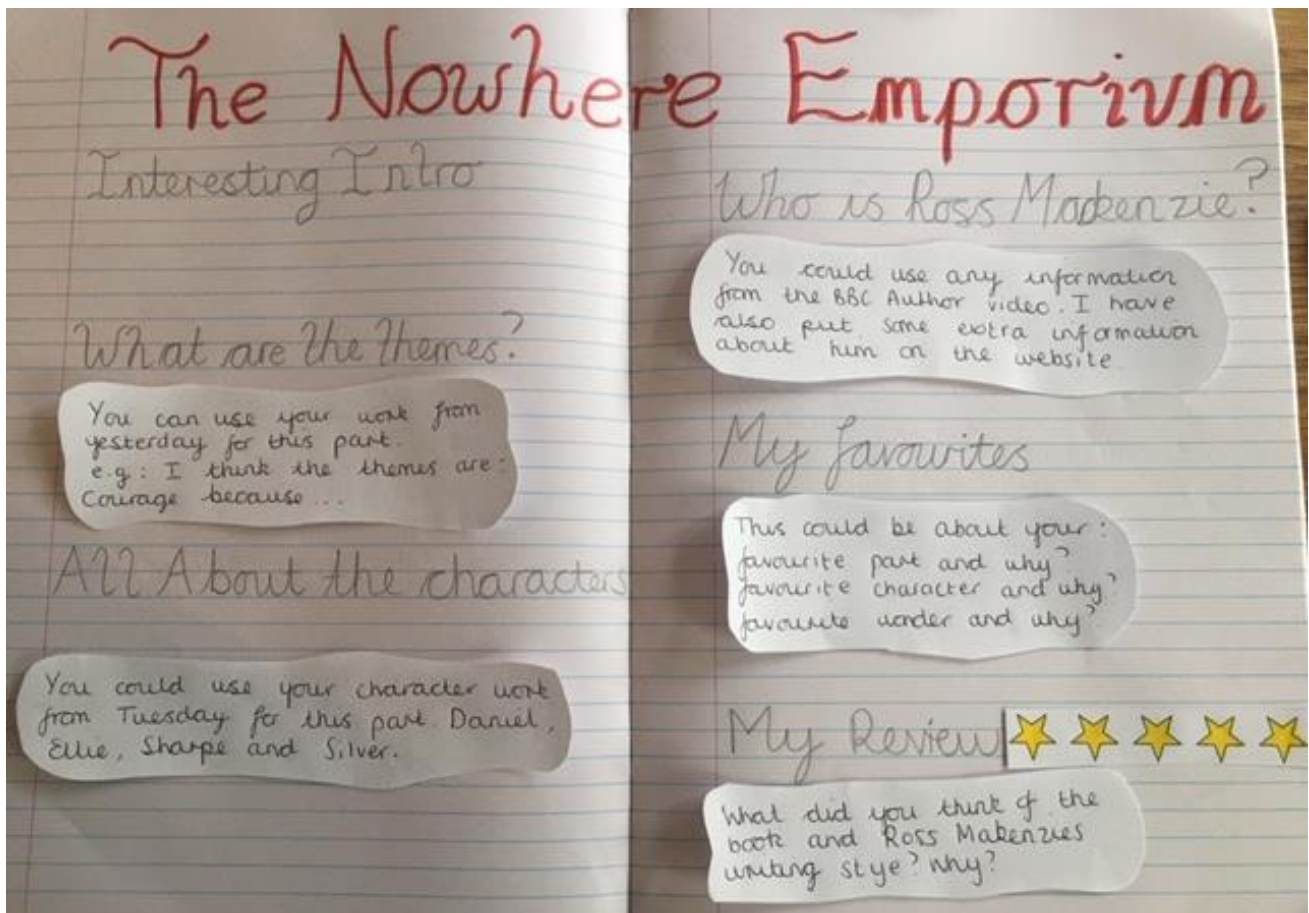

- All about the Author <https://www.bbc.co.uk/iplayer/episode/p08s1nzb/authors-live-ross-mackenzie>

This link is an interview with Ross Mackenzie which you may find useful!

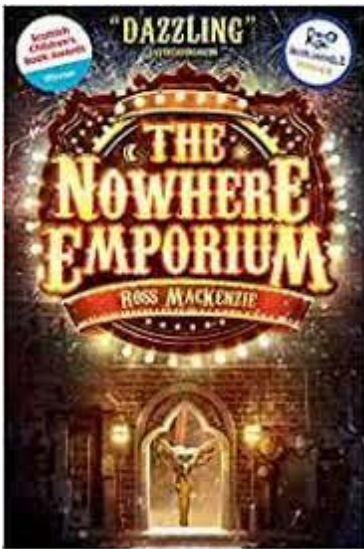

- Meet the characters!
- What are the themes in the book?
- What is the Emporium?
- Wonderful Wonders!
- Would I recommend? (Star rating? What age?)
- My favourites! (This could be your favourite characters or part of the story and why)

Try to include 2-3 relative clauses. Remember to punctuate them with brackets, dashes or commas.

Think of the overall presentation of your page. You can include pictures from the internet or illustrations of your own. Keep them safe as I would like to put some of them on display once we are back at school. Here is the start of mine with some tips for my chosen subheadings:

Below are some pictures you could use in your review plus some more information about Ross Mackenzie. Remember to rewrite any research in your own words rather than copy it word for word.

Ross was born in Glasgow, and has been fascinated by the magic of stories for as long as he can remember. He scribbled his first "book" - an illustrated story about a hungry crocodile called Colin - in a smuggled school jotter when he was seven.

Ross studied graphic design at college, moving on to work as a page designer for a national newspaper. He continued to write in secret, until his first book was published in September 2010. Ross lives near Glasgow with his wife, daughters, and their cocker spaniel. He spends much of his spare time in another world.

Where did your inspiration for The Nowhere Emporium come from?

It's a bit mysterious, actually! The Emporium sort of popped into my head fully formed. I could see this strange old shop so clearly in my head, the sparkling black brick and the faded sign. I knew the shop never stayed in one place for very long, and of course I had to find out why, so I wrote the story.

What is your favourite room in the Nowhere Emporium?

Actually, my favourite place in the entire Emporium is the shop-front where Daniel first meets Mr Silver. It's dim and dusty and mysterious, filled with so many treasures and curiosities. I could spend days looking around!

What would you write in the Book of Wonders?

I'd have a library with every story ever written waiting on the shelves for me. But it would be a library with a twist: I'd be able to meet the characters from my favourite books face to face! Actually, on second thought, this might turn out to be dangerous - the bad guys would probably try to escape and take over the word!
